MERRY CHRISTMAS

That homely poet of the sixteenth century, Thomas Tusser, who turned out a good bit of sage in lilting lines and epigrams which have become a permanent part of our philosophy as well as our language, left the world a simple Yuletide message in the now familiar couplet:

At Christmas play, and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Down through the centuries, Christmas, in addition to its deep religious significance, has been a day of good cheer—a day of play and gayety and great excitement for children, and a day when men and women took off time from toil to enjoy the companionship of their friends and neighbors. It has been a day of brotherly love, a day of goodness, as well as good things on the table, for once a year mankind has sought to follow a little closer in the steps of the Master.

In many of our homes, gladness will be tinged with sadness on Christmas Day this year. Mothers, as they prepare the Christmas dinner, will pray silently that their sons will come back to them, and fathers will long for their boys and bury the hurt in their hears when they sit down to the table without them. For wives and sisters and sweethearts, whose loved ones are wearing G. I. uniforms, there will be something missing from Christmas. But there will be courage and strong hope, too—hope born of the sureness that the tide of battle has turned and that the end may not be too long delayed.

There is not the pall over Christmas this year that there was on that dark Christmas which followed so close on the tragedy of Pearl Harbor. Despite war's burdens, we should all have gratitude in our hearts that the defeat of our enemies, though not yet accomplished, has become a certainty, and that the day of peace has come much nearer. And we should be eternally thankful that America has been spared the fearful devastation and tragedy visited on other countries which have been laid waste by bombs and enemy troops. This year, far more than last, or any year since the outbreak of war, we have reason to be thankful—and reason to extend the Yuletide greeting, "Merry Christmas!"

WORK OR FIGHT

To the fighting man who today saw the life shot out of his buddy and stepped up unhesitatingly to take his place, all the furor about people at home walking out on their war jobs before the war is done, seemed scarcely conceivable. Most of the boys writing home have simply refused to credit the rumors.

Recent War Mobilization rulings calculated to return thousands of men to essential war work or put them in uniform must surely challenge G. I. confidence in the all-out backing of the home front. Millions of service men whose lives hang in the balance must surely wonder at their brothers, their fathers, their friends at home who turned their backs on the crying need for war tools.

To those men whose idealism about the folks at home is apt to be shaken by the apparent disregard for their safety and welfare, and by the seeming lack of backbone in men who gave up war jobs for personal betterment, we on the home front can say only this:

"The workers who pulled out of essential war work and brought about the 'work or fight' edict, were not unpatriotic pro-Fascists who don't give a hoot whether you come home from the war or who wins the final battle. They were fellows pretty much like yourselves, who were swept along in a wave of optimism on the early end of the war—an optimism which was not discouraged by government spokesmen.

"Some of them looked around the war plants where they worked and saw men and women fairly falling over each other's toes, producing guns and planes and ships. Some, perhaps, saw workers perhaps less competent than themselves in positions of authority, for the war plant organizations were new, the jobs to be done were gigantic, and nobody had ever seen anything like it in all history. So, being normal men, albeit thoughtless, each decided that one worker less couldn't possibly affect the total production, and they quit.

"That's about all there is to it. Except this: We believe the majority of those men, now that they know that war needs are critical and the victory depends on them individually as well as on you, will be back on their war jobs or in Uncle Sam's service beside you long before any official order forces them to. We know they regret any mistake, no matter whose, that makes tragedy on our battle fronts, and will try to make up for this one. We believe you can count on that."

How to roast a turkey without a roaster!

IT CAN be done—easily—and without basting, too! But first, remember that in buying a turkey it's wise to figure about ¾ to 1 lb. (drawn weight) per serving.

To truss the bird (thus keeping it in compact and attractive shape while roasting):

Fold wings back so the tips are caught in back of the bird, and tie tightly around the whole bird using strong cord—

Then, using another length of cord, tie firmly around the end of each drumstick just above the joint, press them close to the body, and tie them securely to the tailpiece (as shown above) is the next step, and it requires neither roaster nor basting:

1. Have bird trussed and ready—
2. Place on shallow pan or metal tray (may go cater-cornered if bird is large)—
3. Have oven good and hot (450° F.)—
4. Mix 4 to 6 cups of flour (depending on size of bird) with just enough water to make stiff dough; knead slightly—
5. Roll out to ¼ to ½ inch thickness, large enough to cover bird completely—
6. Let edges hang loose—don't tuck in (if it stretches too thin at any point, patch with extra dough)—
7. Put immediately into hot oven—
8. Pour 1 cup water into pan; bake about 15 minutes for dough blanket to set.
9. Reduce oven heat to 325° F. and finish roasting—
10. Do not baste, but be sure to keep about 1 cupful of water in pan at all times—
11. Half an hour before serving time, break the hard dough blanket by tapping with a hammer; remove blanket, being careful not to break the skin.
12. To get desired color, increase heat if necessary and continue cooking uncovered.

Roasting time depends on the size of the bird; the larger the turkey, for example, the fewer minutes per pound needed for tender results. Turkeys weighing from 14 to 25 lbs. require about 4½ hours at 325° F.; from 8 to 13 lbs., about 3½ hours.

Large birds are "done" when tines of fork easily enter the thick part of the drumstick or when, after you've grasped the end bone of the drumstick the joints in the thigh break or move easily.

Exhibit Of Weaving

Once again the Golden Gate Weavers are holding their annual exhibition at the de Young museum, Golden Gate park. This bay area group, one of the most active in the vicinity, has combined in this year's show both the traditional and creative in textile designs. In the former category, outstanding are the lovely coverlets and tablecloths, replicas of Colonial patterns, woven in wool and cotton. Drapery, yardage, table runners, mats and napkins, towels, scarfs, purses, etc. constitute the "creative" section, in which the weavers have experimented, and in many cases most successfully, with new materials, colors and designs.

A special section is devoted to work done either by the group's members working in Army and Navy hospitals, or by the convalescents themselves under the weavers' direction. All of the articles here are made from salvage material such as scraps of leather and cork, old socks and stockings, dress remnants, hat braids, and even the linings of rubber tires. The extremely colorful purses, mats and scarfs woven by these men give the lie to their lowly origin.

This year over 35 of the Golden Gate Weavers are displaying their textiles in a most interesting exhibit which will remain at the de Young through January, 1945.

There Will Be Good Fishing At Lake

The old fisherman who built his shack so that he could fish from his front or back porch had little on San Francisco's disciples of Izaak Walton.

Denied gasoline to their favorite streams and lakes in Northern and Central California, they have induced the Bureau of Fish Conservation to plant 25,785 black bass fingerlings and 43,670 rainbow trout fingerlings in Lake Merced.

Thus when the fishermen tire of fishing in their front yard, San Francisco bay—they can soon go into their backyard, Lake Merced, and fish for freshwater bass and trout.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

"There are probably still some G.I.'s who would not give their last cigarette or blanket to Ernie Pyle. But nothing that any G.I. can scrounge from another is too good for him." This glowing tribute to one of our top war correspondents was recently paid by Time Magazine, and from all we hear Ernie Pyle more than deserves it.

ERNIE PYLE

His book on the African campaign, "Here Is Your War," sold over a million copies, all told. His new book, "Brave Men," which covers the war from the Sicilian campaign to the liberation of Paris, is the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for December. A special feature of "Brave Men": the author lists every service man with whom he talked and the name of his home town.

Ernie Pyle hates war, everything about it except the men who are fighting it. He tells about it in all its grimmest aspects: the thousands of dead on the Normandy beach-head—and among the litter and debris, thousands of sheets of blank letter paper, on which the men had planned to write home about their first visit to France. He tells innumerable heroic exploits; among his "brave men" was the wounded English flier, pinioned for eight days under his plane, whose first remark to his rescuers was an apology for the trouble he was causing them.

But there was one glorious moment: "I had thought that for me there could never again be any elation in war, but I had reckoned without the liberation of Paris. . . . The streets of Paris are very wide and they were packed on each side. . . . The women were all brightly dressed in white or red blouses and colorful peasant skirts. . . . Everybody was throwing flowers."

Ernie Pyle says he didn't hear any classic remarks when the American troops entered France, such as the famous "Lafayette, we are here," of the last war. The nearest to it was made by an ack-ack gunner, sitting on a mound of earth about two weeks after D-Day, reading the "Stars and Stripes." All of a sudden, he said, "Say, where's this Normandy beach-head it talks about in here?" Pyle realized he was serious and he told him, "You're sitting on it." The gunner looked up in surprise, "Well, I'll be damned. I never knowed that," he said.
